Robert—We had quite an experience at Stoder's last evening.
Richard—Yes?
Robert—Yes. We were sitting there like so many mummies, when Stoder's daughter suddenly broke into song.
Richard—So? And what did the rest of you do?
Robert—Oh, the rest of us broke away as soon as possible.—Boston Transcript.

The present king of Servia, Alexander I, was elevated to the throne in the place of his disreputable father in 1889. He was born in 1876 and is now a sturdy youth, who, it is said, gives promise of being quite as disreputable as ex-King Milan ever was.

It is stated by Brewer that Pope Hormisdas, in 593, was the first to wear a cap or tiara of state.

An Embarrassing Gift.

Lord Leighton's house is to be presented to the nation, which in turn is to maintain it in its present condition as an artistic monument of its late owner. It is ungracious to discuss such matters too closely, and every one will recognize the good intentions of the ladies who make the generous gift, but some day it will be necessary seriously to discuss this business, now so much in fashion, of keeping up the houses that are associated with the memory of our great men. One day it is Carlyle, another it is Turner, and so on.

There is a little "boom," a few of the faithful pour in on the opening day and examine the hat stand, and the walking stick, and the dining room table, and then they go away and straightway forget all about it. For a year or so stray Americans and provincials keep up a show of interest, and then the thing becomes a mere white elephant, of interest or of use to nobody. Lord Leighton's house is out beyond Holland Park, and, as it is not to be either a school, a museum or a home, who is likely after the first few weeks to take the trouble to go three or four miles to visit it?—St. James Gazette.
